Worthy Boys and Girls Camp

Building Strong Foundations for the York County Area Youth

The Worthy Boys Camp began in 1949 when 48 acres of land were donated to the Rock Hill Pistol Club for training and firing range. The donation came with the stipulation that a camp for youth is developed. The first Camp opened that same year and has been in almost continuous operation since that time. In 1995, the camp became the Worthy Boys and Girls Camp.

Camp Purpose

Throughout its history, the camp has provided a week-long opportunity for area young people ages 9 — 12 to experience the outdoors, learn new skills, develop interpersonal skills, and build personal self esteem. The camp's staff instills a spirit of sharing and growing together that will become part of their future lives. Many former campers are leaders in the community serving as police officers, firefighters, business owners, and teachers.

Camp Leadership

The camp is operated and maintained entirely by the Rock Hill Police Department. The camp staff is hired by the department and supported by staff members. Volunteers from the community also contribute their time, talents, and resources.

Camp Facilities

The camp includes a chapel, dining hall, activity hall, bath house, sleeping cabins, a full basketball court, obstacle course and playground. A sparkling four-acre lake lies in the center of the camp for fishing and boating. The camp is nestled in a beautiful wooded area which provides a serene and natural environment for camp activities. A recreational building is in the developmental stages to enhance the camp ground.

An evening of dinner, dancing, silent auction and fun is provided. This event is the primary fundraiser that funds the Worthy Boys and Girls Camp to allow youth of York County to attend an overnight recreational camp. This camp serves 160 youth in the summer months.
